

S. Jane Sukardi

Since starting my bachelorship in Graphic Design, I feel I have had a freedom to experiment and explore my ideas visually. That's why Graphic Design and Photography become my way to expand and develop my visual communication skills. With design I have been given a possibility to plant some idea strongly to people's mind. That's why I really want to work with design that has a good purpose for the society. My goal as a designer is to be able to create a finished work that could influence many people.
