Hello! My name is Jonathan Lesmana, a 3rd year design student at BINUS University. People usually call me Jole.

I reallyyy like to explore and try new things, especially on design. For me, design is like a maze. It's mysterious, and we may encounter something unexpected on our journey.

I have a huge interest in editorial design and branding. It's interesting how a single image of type can speak a thousand meaning; that's why most of my work consists of typography.
