words

When it comes to design, I am a very passionate man. My sense of curiosity, aesthetic, sophistication, and perfection drives me to run my days with design in mind. When I see things, design is the first thing that came to my mind, observing and questioning. I love it when things are simple, clean, balanced, and has a propriate function.

I have a big desire to make changes, change the way people see, and change the way people think, and change the way people do. And that desire is what keeps me motivated.
